ABSTRACT

Intended to aid theatre administrators as they attempt to exchange information, high school and college faculty members as they advise students on the availability of suitable programs, and students of theatre as they seek programs appropriate to their needs, this directory groups theatre programs by state and lists them alphabetically. Each entry begins with the name of the institution, followed by the degrees offered, the number of full-time and part-time faculty, the name and title of the chief theatre administrator, the complete mailing address, and the office telephone number. For the convenience of advisers, programs offering MFA (Master of Fine Arts) and PhD degrees are summarized again at the end of the directory. The questionnaire used to obtain the information for the directory is also included. (HTH)

FOREWORD

This is the first edition of the ACA/CAP DIRECTORY OF THEATRE PROGRAMS. The need for such a Directory has long been apparent; with the affiliation of the Chief Administrator's Program of UCTA of ATA and the Association for Communication Administration, the resources for its completion and maintenance became available.

The nature of the information to be included in the DIRECTORY and the timetable for the completion of the survey were set at the initial meeting of the officers of the two affiliate groups: Vincent Angotti, University of Evansville, Theodore Clevenger, Florida State University, Donald Loeffler, Western Carolina University, Lorayne Lester, University of Tennessee, Jon Whitmore, West Virginia University, Patti Gillespie, University of Maryland, and Robert Hall, ACA Executive Secretary. Compiled at Florida State University's College of Communication by Mary Jane Shadowen (who holds an assistantship funded by the ACA), the DIRECTORY is now on computer and, thus, can be updated regularly.

In the DIRECTORY the theatre programs are grouped by states and listed alphabetically. A typical entry begins with the name of the institution, followed by the degrees offered, the number of full-time faculty and part-time faculty, the name and title of the chief theatre administrator, the complete mailing address, and the office telephone number. For the convenience of advisors, programs offering the MFA and PhD degrees are summarized again at the end of the DIRECTORY. An effort was made, both by mailings and by telephone, to contact all theatre programs, but obviously those programs that failed to supply the information could not be included.

The purpose of the DIRECTORY is threefold: to aid theatre administrators as they attempt to exchange information; to aid high school and college faculty members as they advise students on the availability of suitable programs; and to help students of theatre as they seek programs appropriate to their needs. Approximately 650 programs in the United States and Canada are included in this first DIRECTORY. Of these, over eighty offer

MFA degrees and more than thirty-five offer PhD degrees; approximately 100 are housed in two-year institutions and ten in non-academic schools; thirty list minors or concentrations but do not offer academic degrees in theatre.

Both the ACA and CAP hope readers will find the DIRECTORY helpful. Errors in this edition should be brought to the attention of the Executive Committee members of either the ACA or CAP so that they can be corrected in later editions. As well, the two Associations would appreciate knowing ways by which they can improve subsequent editions of the DIRECTORY to better meet your needs.
